

ABSTRACT

A policy repository having facilities to enter, store, search for, and retrieve generic policy easily adaptable for application to enterprise devices. That repository having means of restricting access by way of authentication. Methods of using and applying generic policy using a policy repository.